Be a part of the conversation as we rethink transportation and shape our region's future

Maximize2040 is a 25-year transportation plan for the Baltimore region. This plan will make the best use of the region's resources to provide a maximum benefit to residents, visitors, and businesses.

Why should I participate?

Local elected officials and leaders from state agencies will decide how to invest billions of dollars in our region's transportation system over the next 25 years.

- ★ How do you see the future of transportation?
- ★ What are your biggest concerns about transportation?
- ★ What ideas do you have to improve the ways we move?

Your voice matters. Make sure your ideas are a part of the conversation!

How can I be involved?

The public will have a chance to weigh in on important decisions throughout the 18-month planning process.
