

CURATED NATIONAL NEWS

Regional Ruminations On Display At the 2024 Capital Region Transportation Forum

Greater Greater Washington

Part of the Solution: Transit's Role in Addressing Homelessness

Transit Center

USDOT Publishes Final Rule Establishing Accessible Standards of Transit Stops in Public Right-of-Way

Mass Transit

Do Car-Free Zones Hurt Disabled People? We Asked Experts.

Mother Jones

Putting the Public Back in Public Transit

CommonWealth Beacon

Public Transit: An Economic Powerhouse on Wheels

Metro

TOD Creates Public Space in Suburban DC

Public Square

REGIONAL NEWS LINKS

State's flagging economy and transportation infrastructure linked

Efforts to bolster Maryland's flagging economy and ease projected budget deficits may hinge on improving the state's roads and transit - but the fund that pays for roads and transit faces a budget shortfall. That is the...

Maryland Matters / Dec 19

Committee meets to discuss budget deficit; Ferguson talks transportation projects

The Spending Affordability Committee met to discuss a $2.5 billion deficit in next year's Maryland budget, putting projects like the Red Line expansion into question. | PDF: Red Line project explained Maryland...

WBAL Baltimore News

Frustration with the Purple Line boils over as officials split over $96 million contract

Gov. Wes Moore and Comptroller Brooke Lierman let out some frustration at today's Board of Public Works meeting with the over budget and overdue transit project in the D.C. suburbs.

The Baltimore Banner / Dec 19